CHAIRMAN Board of Governor's Address

I am glad to know that DAV Institute of Management, Faridabad is bringing out the new Information brochure. It has indeed been a matter of pride that the institute has successfully completed a long journey of 23 years and is playing its vital role of providing management education with excellence.

Global change is transforming everything around us. Covid-19 has put us through an all together new challenge. For a while now, educators around the world have been talking about the need to rethink the ways to reach and educate future generations. Needless to say, the pandemic has transformed the centuries-old, class room teaching model to one driven by technology. A multi-pronged approach is necessary to manage the crisis and truly build a resilient education system in the long term. Moreover, strategies are required to prepare the higher education sector for the evolving demand–supply trends across the globe—particularly for those related to the global mobility of students.

The management of DAVIM has understood how interconnected we are – there is no longer such a thing as isolated issues and actions. Successful people in the coming decades need to be able to understand this interrelatedness and navigate across boundaries to leverage their differences and work in a globally collaborative way. This is also obvious from the fact that the Alumni of this institute are there for hand- holding, for facilitating young people's development as contributing members of society.

I have faith that with the efforts of its Principal and faculty members, this institute would further consolidate its position as one of the leaders in management education and find its place among premier institutions of the country.

I wish the institute all success in its endeavor.

Dr.Punam Suri

President

DAV College Managing Committee

New Delhi.

This crisis is forcing teachers to reinvent their roles from that of transferring information to enabling learning. In this time of crisis, a well-rounded and effective educational practice is what is needed for the capacity-building of young minds. It will develop skills that will drive their employability, productivity, health, and well-being in the decades to come, and ensure their overall progress.

VICE PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

I congratulate DAV Institute of Management for bringing out the information brochure for the new session 2020-21. Over the years, this institute has successfully adhered to the strong values rooted and founded in the philosophy of Vedic culture along with flexibility to adapt to ever changing world scenario. And in this testing time of COVID-19, the whole scenario has become demanding. This crisis is forcing teachers to reinvent their roles from that of transferring information to enabling learning. In this time of crisis, a well-rounded and effective educational practice is what is needed for the capacity-building of young minds. It will develop skills that will drive their employability, productivity, health, and well-being in the decades to come, and ensure their overall progress.

Since management education needs to groom future managers with new perspective on emerging management issues, and that the idea enshrined by Swami Dayanand Saraswati ji that "all actions should be performed with the prime objective of benefiting mankind", this strong foundation laid at DAVIM will guide them to achieve the desired heights in their career and help them to take strong decisions collaboratively and efficiently. This may mean that the role of educators will need to move towards facilitating young people's development as contributing members of global society.

My best wishes to the Principal, the institute faculty and to the students.

Prabodh Mahajan
Vice President
DAV College Managing Committee
New Delhi.

To manage business organizations, it is necessary to develop competencies that help academicians understand and predict uncertainty and it is only possible through progressive development programmes. The cell endeavors to contribute to professional development of In house faculty members and of those who are working in various other institutes in India. It offers opportunities to acquire in-depth knowledge as well as hone knowledge dissemination skills. We largely follow a participatory approach to learning. Though there is a clear emphasis on the case method of teaching and learning, other educational approaches such as lectures, small group exercises, simulations, management games, and presentations are also widely used.
